

Alan Johnson

Alan is recognised as a leading practitioner in the analysis and development of housing strategy, analysis of options, regeneration initiatives and business planning. He has also developed a particular expertise in advising on the analysis of strategic options and in the implementation of alternative strategies. He has been extensively involved in the planning and implementation of a wide variety of housing initiatives covering housing management, stock transfer and estate regeneration.

Alan has worked as a management consultant for the last nineteen years during which time he has been primarily involved in providing services to local authorities and housing associations. He has also undertaken overseas assignments in the Philippines, Oman and Zimbabwe.

He began his career in local government and after ten years joined Milton Keynes Development Corporation where he became Deputy Director of Finance with specific responsibility for management of the capital programme and for new housing initiatives. Since 1988 he has worked in management consultancy, firstly for Deloitte and Touche Ross, then PricewaterhouseCoopers and more recently as a Director of EnterpriseBWNL.
